In 1955 the Village of Rosemont was incorporated by current Village President Donald E. Stephens. Stephens continued to be a powerful political force in the Village of Rosemont as well as in the state of Illinois. Rosemont, a town of only 4,000 residents, boasts a major convention center (Rosemont Convention Center), a major sports arena (Rosemont Horizon), and a major theater (Rosemont Theater). The Village of Rosemont only consists of 4½ square miles, however, attracts almost 24,000 workers daily, and will draw over 3.5 million people as visitors to various Rosemont events yearly. The Village of Rosemont employs over 185 full-time employees and 1,300 part-time employees with an annual budget of $93 million.

Stephens has been indicted twice by a Federal Grand Jury in Chicago for fraud and tax evasion, however, was acquitted at both jury trials. He has also made no secret of his association with late Chicago organized crime boss Sam Giancana,

AUSA Opinion:

On August 3, 1998, [REDACTED] Chief, Criminal Division, United States Attorney's Office, was advised of the facts in this investigation to date. AUSA [REDACTED] concurred that an investigation is necessary to determine if these allegations can be substantiated. Additionally, AUSA [REDACTED] advised that agents obtain further evidence to charge [REDACTED] and other Village of Rosemont officials with corruption .

Investigative strategy:

A review of historical Chicago files concerning Mayor Donald Stephens and others connected to the Village of Rosemont are replete with corruption. Additionally, this investigation will parallel another Chicago investigation of Rosemont entitled [REDACTED]

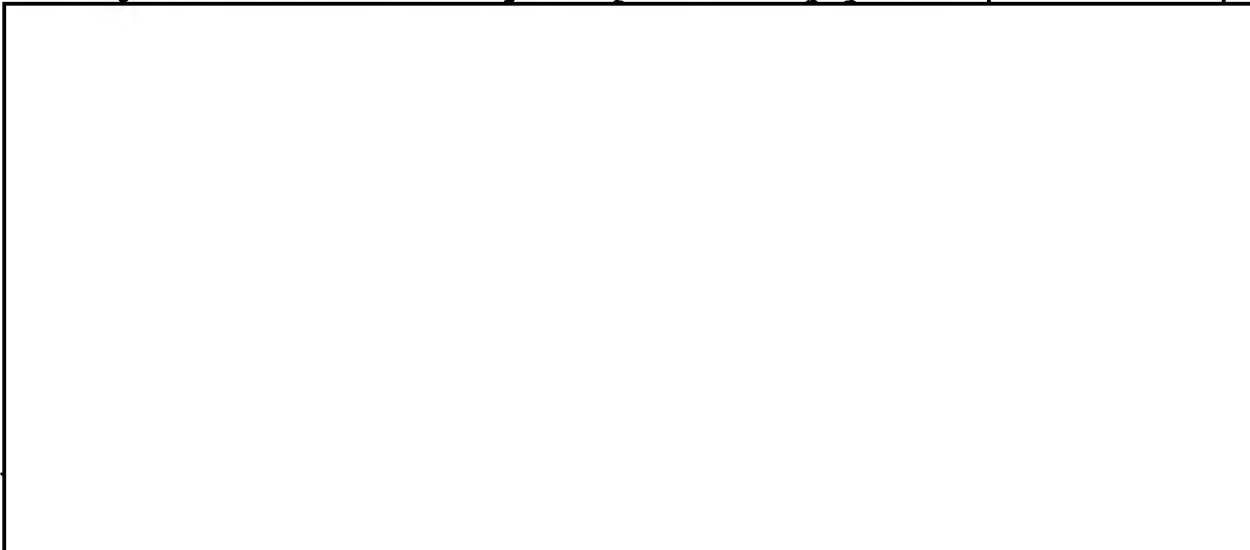

[REDACTED] also assigned to SA [REDACTED] since 1996. Prior research into Rosemont reveals a systemic corruption within the Village of Rosemont, including public officials, and police officers, as well as legislative corruption as far reaching as Springfield, Illinois. At this
